

Dear Friends and Community Partners,

In light of recent events, and in anticipation of upcoming challenges to our community, we at Inspiring Hospice Group would like to express our sincere gratitude to you and your dedicated team of professionals, as you battle on the front lines of this crisis.

At the same time, we would also like to take this opportunity to reaffirm our organization's commitment to providing the very best in hospice and palliative care to our many shared patients:

- We will care for our team to the best of our ability during this time, empowering them to provide the best of themselves to our patients;
- We are redoubling our efforts to provide even more time, more comfort, and more care to patients and caregivers who are experiencing fear and anxiety. We are encouraging nurses and CNAs to spend as much time bedside with patients as possible; and
- We are expediting the use of telemedicine at our hospice to fortify our connections to quarantined or isolated patients and their caregivers.

Inspiring Hospice Group will remain open through these coming weeks and months, as we have always been; well poised to respond to the surge in the needs of our patients and our community. Please be assured that the staff of Inspiring Hospice Group in its entirety – physicians, nurse practitioners, registered nurses, LPNs, CNAs, social workers, bereavement specialists and administrators alike – stands with you, shoulder to shoulder, as we rise to meet this challenge, and fight to protect our community and its citizens.

We hope that you will call on us when the need arises, and continue to regard us as your allies, professional colleagues, and friends.

Thank you again for all you do!

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Steve Morris", with a long horizontal flourish extending to the right.

Steve Morris, CEO
Inspiring Hospice Group